

ISAAC AND THEA ANDERSON JACOB

Isaac Jacob was born May 11, 1876, at Midway, Wasatch County, son of Joseph and Ellen Gerber Jacob. He married Thea Anderson on June 20, 1905. She was the daughter of Rasmus and Rebecca Bohn Anderson, and was born December 6, 1884, at Heber.

His parents were early settlers of Heber Valley, settling at Snake Creek in 1862.

When Ike (Isaac) was six years old the family moved from Midway to Daniels Creek, where his father homesteaded 160 acres. Ike lived there until 1907, when he moved to Heber City with his wife.

He has said of his early childhood:

"I grew up much like the other boys of those days, on a farm, a little wild and untrained. However, I had a wonderful mother, who always instilled in the hearts of her children a desire to attend school and organizations of the Church. She taught us to look forward to going on missions. Father always had a few sheep on the place when we were small. We learned the sheep business, which I have followed all my life."

Ike, his brother Milt, and their father Joseph started commercial woolgrowing in Wasatch County in 1898, when they leased the cooperative sheep herd of the valley. At the end of four years they bought out the interests of all who would sell and started their own herd of 3,000 sheep. Ike retired from the sheep business in 1949, at which time he had 5,000 animals.

Ike and Thea moved to Provo in 1920, to Pleasant Grove in 1941, and bought a home in St. George in 1952, after renting there two years while doing temple work.

Ike served a mission to England, 1908-10. He was on the Stake High Council, Wasatch Stake, 1912-17; Timpanogos Stake, 1942-49. He also served as a bishop's counselor, 1921-23, bishop, 1923-35, in Bonneville Ward in Provo.

He was a member of the High Priests' Quorum; presidency Utah Stake, 1930-41; Heber City councilman, 1916-17.

Their children are: Isaac Eldon, Horace Wendell, Gladys J., Milton Eugene, John Norton, Calvin Keith, and Venice J.

EDWARD AND LIZZIE
LINDSAY JONES

Edward Jones was born in Heber, April 28, 1879, to Richard and Agnes Campbell Jones. He was married to Lizzie Lindsay 5 Oct. 1899 in Prides Hall in Center Creek by George Barzee. To them were born four children as follows: Jennie, born 26 Jan. 1902, Alfonso, 1 April 1905, (died 27 April 1905), Grant 13 Sept. 1907, Allen 25 Oct. 1909, who married Lucy Wright 3 Nov. 1933. Edward died 20 Sept. 1910.

Edward moved to Center Creek with his parents when a small boy. He helped his father with the farm work and was one of the early sheepmen in the county. At that time it was a real task in the winter to get grain and other supplies to their herds on the eastern desert in Duchesne County. The roads through Strawberry Valley would drift full of snow and it took an expert to keep on the road. The snow became packed where the loaded sleighs traveled, and if the horses slipped off it was a real task to get them back on the road. Ed was an expert at this and his horses were well trained so he was always the lead team. He became a very prosperous sheep raiser. The lambs were trailed from the summer range to Heber, from here they were loaded on cars and sent by rail to markets in Kansas City. On one of these trips Ed and his hired man, Young, got typhoid fever, and they both died after returning home.

Lizzie Jones raised her family and did a great deal of work for people in need. She is a member of the LDS Church.
